Projects

1. “Heritage at War in the Mediterranean Region” is a new interdisciplinary research carried out by the Urban Observatory within the Department of Contemporary Studies of Ifpo, with the support of the Agence universitaire de la Francophonie (2015-2017). The main objective of the research program is to assess themes and critical issues related with heritage specifically in times and zones of conflict, especially in terms of identity and power politics. The program is based on the partnership of six teams belonging to the AUF: in Bosnia (International University of Sarajevo, Programs of Social and Political Sciences and Cultural Studies), for the question of multi-ethnicity; in Turkey (Institut Français d’Etudes Anatoliennes) with the question of minorities, but also the neo-Ottomanization of Istanbul; in Algeria (Ecole Polytechnique d’Architecture et d’Urbanisme) and the consequences of the « leaden years »» as well as the colonization; in Egypt (IRD- Institut Français d'Archéologie Orientale) with those of the « Arab spring » (Cairo and Alexandria); and in Lebanon (Université Libanaise, Institut des Beaux-Arts) with the particularly visible consequences of the civil war in Beirut. Examples in Palestine (as concerns territorial conflict) will also be treated through the participation of an Italian researcher (Politecnico, Milano). The research program will result in significant contributions to the field through a workshop in Sarajevo (June 2015), a workshop in Istanbul (2016) and a symposium in Beirut (2017) with a publication to follow, in addition to support for young researchers' works. Senior Assistant Lejla Dizdarevic affiliated with the Faculty of Business and Administration at the International University of Sarajevo received the 2016 grant for her work titled "Heritage as reminder of war; Sarajevo tour" and Senior Assistant Nerkez Opacin is the 2017 candidate for the grant. (For a short video of the brief description of the project by Assist. Prof. Dr. Aliye F. Mataraci and young researchers affiliated with the project, see: https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=gN_U3aCpH1s).

2. Cooperation Agreement: World Social Capital Monitor was signed between Dr. Alexander Dill, on behalf of the Director of the Basel Institute of Commons and Economics and Assoc. Prof. Dr. Aliye F. Mataraci, Head of Social Sciences Department and Coordinator of Social and Political Sciences Program, on behalf of the International University of Sarajevo (IUS) on May 17, 2018. Through this cooperation agreement, both parties agree to establish an agenda of cooperation aiming to implement joint-initiatives with a specific focus on the World Social Capital Monitor, which is a worldwide open access Social Capital Survey for citizens and the property of Basel Institute of Commons and Economics. The World Social Capital Monitor is a partnership project within the United Nations` Sustainable Development Goals (UN SDG). Based on this agreement, IUS will contribute to conducting the semi-annual Social Capital Monitor of Bosnia and Herzegovina together with the Basel Institute of Commons and Economics. All data entries will be collected in the online databank through the portal of the World Social Capital Monitor: <http://trustyourplace.com/>. The data will be the property of Basel Institute of Commons and Economics and IUS will receive the survey results in Excel format and is entitled to use and publish the results for academic purposes. The duration of the cooperation is five years and ten semi-annual surveys will be conducted in this period.

3. Göç Eğitim Programı Project: Project application under the Erasmus+ programme.
